How many drops of CBD oil should I take?

To figure out how many CBD oil drops to take, we suggest starting with the recommended dosage of up to two to three drops three times a day. If you fail to see any changes in the next few days, you can increase the frequency or number of drops.

What is full-spectrum CBD?

A full-spectrum CBD product contains multiple components in a cannabis plant, such as essential oils, terpenes, and cannabinoids, notably cannabidiol.

At Euphorium X, our full-spectrum tinctures are prepared with 85 percent + pure, full-spectrum CBD distillate obtained from sustainably grown American hemp. In addition to CBD, full-spectrum tinctures contain terpenes and additional cannabinoids such as CBG, CBN, and trace THC levels (less than 0.3 percent). Due to the nature of several cannabinoids and terpenes working together synergistically, full-spectrum products are considered more effective and potent.

White Marble

Since classical times, white marble has been prized for its usage in buildings and sculptures, a fixation that continues today. Our White Marble CBD oil is a throwback to a timeless renaissance where curiosity and creativity brought a new wave of innovation and invention.

Perfect for boosting focus and stimulating creativity, our White Marble is made from pure natural CBD oil to give you that ultimate CBD feeling to help you lead a very active lifestyle.

Each bottle comes in 10ml in size, unscented and unflavoured to give you the best mother nature has to offer, free of harmful chemicals.

All products have COA (Certification of Analysis).

Why choose Euphorium X?

Our products are created from the cleanest and purest hemp extract, prepared with a perfect combination of the right quantities of cannabinoids for optimum efficacy and safety.

Third-party experts thoroughly evaluate our products to ensure that they give the best quality CBD while avoiding pesticides and solvents.
